FINANCIAL SCANDAL.

The Biggest Thing of the Century in London—Three Million Pounds Deficiency.

Criminal Prosecutions to be Instituted—Racy Developments Promised.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The collapse of the Liberator Building Society, simultaneously with the downfall of the London and General Bank, is likely to prove one of the most gigantic financial sensations of the generation. Rumors as to the great extent of the disaster have been current ever since the double failure was announced, in September last; but the figures presented at a meeting of the shareholders and creditors of the Liberator Society to-day are astounding, even to those who have freely predicted that the wreck would be one of the worst ever known in the history of such enterprises. The official receivers stated at to-day's meeting that the society owed the shareholders and creditors £312,000, while the reserve fund was only £90,000, and was little better than a mere book entry at that. The mortgages amounted to £3,423,000, and were at first supposed to be good assets, but investigation had shown that they were probably valueless, as £3,188,286 had been lent to three companies, which are now in liquidation. There were virtually no free assets, there being but £50,000 in sight with which to meet a deficiency of £3,000,000. The bulk of the money had been lent upon nothing better than third liens. It was absurd to talk about a possible reconstruction of the society, for there was nothing to reconstruct. A stormy discussion followed the reading of this doleful report. The upshot of it was that a committee was appointed to co-operate with the receiver, in the forlorn hope of having something from the wreck. Everything points to the certainty of the criminal prosecution of the directors of the concern, and it will be the next thing in order. It is thought that the action will be on a charge of fraudulent concealment of the operations of the society. There is reason to believe that J. Spencer Balfour, M.P., the vice-president and real head of the concern, together with several directors, has pocketed hundreds of thousands of pounds in the shape of commissions, which are now alleged to be illegal. The litigation, which is in prospect, will doubtless reveal numerous and extensive scandals of financial character.

WENT DOWN IN THE STORM.

A Terrible Typhoon Cause the Loss of the P. and O. Steamer "Bokhara."

The Empress Tastes the Hurricane—Pacific Record Breaking—Gossip of the East.

Had it not been for the dense fog which prevented her entering the Straits early Sunday morning the C.P.R. steamship Empress of Japan would on her homeward voyage just completed have clipped at least four hours from the trans-Pacific record. As it was she succeeded in maintaining a uniform speed of 17 knots throughout the passage, a performance to be proud of.

From Japan here the run was a comparatively pleasant one; on the Chinese coast rough weather was fallen in with. The tenth of last month saw the big white liner tossed about by a fierce typhoon, which good seamanship and her own staunchness brought her safely through.

Less fortunate was the P. and O. steamship Bokhara, which left Shanghai for Hongkong at noon on the 8th ultimo, and two days later ran into the same tempest. One of the old style three masters of 1,797 registered tonnage, built and engined by Cairds, of Greenock, as long ago as 1873, the Bokhara was not like the Empress a match for the hurricane.

How those aboard her battled the storm—in all its vivid horror—will never be known; the great majority of those who sailed out in the bright sunshine from Shanghai are numbered with the victims of the sea.

When the Empress sailed from Yokohama, early on the morning of the 20th, all particulars of the wreck obtainable were contained in the appended brief dispatch from Nagasaki to the Japan Daily Advertiser:

NAGASAKI, 5:20 p.m., Oct. 17.

Bokhara is a total wreck on Sand island. There are only 23 survivors.

The Bokhara's passenger list on her last fatal trip was made up largely of British army and navy officers on their way to Hongkong; there were also a number of English and American round-the-globe tourists aboard, and several retired officers and eastern business men going home to London. Among the latter was Dr. Lawson, very well known on the Pacific coast and at one time on the forerunner of the Empresses, the Abyssinia. The Bokhara had the custody of over 150 human lives when she left Shanghai, and so the death roll numbers about 125.

When the Empress arrived off the Outer Wharf here, Sunday afternoon, the sea was running so high and strong that Dr. Macnaughton Jones could not board her from the Earle, and so, after numerous failures, the Empress was obliged to shift to Royal Roads, where the quarantine steamer, and afterwards the Yosemite, acting as tender, came alongside. A clean bill of health was reported, and soon the Victoria passengers and mails were ready to go ashore.

The list of ladies and gentlemen in the saloon on this trip was not a large one, containing but 50 names. Captain A. J. Booth, R. N., with his wife, a Canadian girl, are on their way to London; the Captain is on sick leave, and is about to undergo an operation, which, it is hoped, will restore his health. Mr. and Mrs. Brearly, after several years' residence in Japan, are returning to London to live. Mr. J. S. Bradstreet, of St. Paul, Minn., has been "doing the circle," and taking snap shots at the different corners of the globe as he flashes by. So have Mr. and Mrs. J. Elliman and their party, English tourists, and Dr. and Mrs. Isham, who are now returning to their home in Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Fish, Mr. E. C. Fish and Mr. Loring, form an American round-the-world party, who stop off for a few days in Victoria. Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds, from Surrey, and Mr. and Mrs. Wreford and Miss Watson, also from England, are travelling for pleasure; so are Mrs. and Miss Paterson, wife and daughter of the surgeon-general at Hongkong, and Professor Raymond and his son. Dr. and Mrs. Sequale and their family are homeward bound from Japan. The doctor has been initiating the subjects of the Mikado into the mysteries of American patent medicines; he has also been giving street lectures to wandering natives, pulling teeth and extracting corns. All of which he found remarkable profitable.

The second saloon passengers were eight in number and of these Mr. Upton, and Capt. and Mrs. R. N. Walker and family got off here. The Chinese passengers were lower than usual, only 79 for Victoria. As a cargo the Empress brought 2,300 tons of tea and silks for the East, and a few miscellaneous packages of Oriental goods for Pacific Coast points.

Apart from the marine disasters consequent upon the recent typhoon, very little Oriental news of importance is reported. The floods are subsiding and the Government is taking prompt and intelligent action to repair damages and relieve the destitute. Li Hung Chang is just as shrewd a diplomat as ever; the story of his insanity was an American "fake," pure and simple.

GODFREY KNOCKED OUT.

The Colored Slugger Done Up by Joe Choynski in Fifteen Rounds.

CONEY ISLAND, N. Y., Oct. 31.—Coney Island Club had a big crowd in the club house to-night to witness the two fights on the programme. The first "go" was between a couple of young chaps, Billy Lyons of New York and Kid Hogan of Brooklyn. It was ten rounds, and they made a hard fight, knock downs being plentiful. Hogan earned three knock downs and Lyons one. The big event of the night was a fight to a finish between Geo. Godfrey, a colored man of Boston, whom only Peter Jackson and Jake Kilrain had beaten, and Joe Choynski, the San Francisco lad who had fought Corbett and Joe Goddard. Godfrey is about 46 years of age and Choynski only about 25. The betting was $100 to $80 on Choynski. The spectators were surprised at Choynski's cleverness. He had always been known as a man with one hard hitting hand, but to-night he showed judgment and quick feet as well as fast arms. The fighting was not decisive until the fifteenth round, when both men came up looking well. Godfrey swung both hands with ferocity, but Choynski was not there either time. The Californian was a good ducker, beyond a doubt. He also got in a good right hander on Godfrey's left eye. Godfrey went in like a bull in this round. By doing so he acted only as Choynski wanted him to do, "play the sucker." Choynski had been waiting for this chance all the evening. The colored man was furious. He rushed in slashing wildly. Choynski jumped away laughing, then Godfrey plunged in again. It was his last effort. Choynski met him with the right hand that had been in retirement so long, and there was no more Godfrey. The fist was planted full on the Boston man's left jaw, half way down between the chin and ear, and Godfrey went to sleep. He was clearly and cleanly knocked out.

INTERIOR NEWS.

KASLO.

(From the Miner.)

Building operations are proceeding briskly. No fewer than 11 buildings are now in course of construction; three on Front street and the remainder residences, three of them of very large size.

Everybody here is delighted to learn that the attempted jumping of the Best has signally failed.

About eight tons of ore from the Dardanelles are awaiting shipment. The owners are offering to bet that any piece of ore picked out will assay as high as $500.

Mr. Davenport, it is currently reported, is negotiating a large deal with the owners of the Dardanelles. There are 18 inches of solid ore uncovered for a distance of some hundreds of feet, averaging 500 or 600 ounces of silver to the ton.

Jim Wardner offered to build a sleigh road from the mouth of Cody creek to the lakes, to connect with the wagon road, by January 1st, if the citizens of Kaslo would subscribe $1,650. The money was forthcoming in a couple of hours, and Mr. Wardner has guaranteed to haul out 500 tons of ore to Kaslo by April 1, 1893. He is trying to let a contract for 1,500 tons. He has bought up all the lots the townsite company still hold on the north side of the creek, some 68 in number; also three lots on Front street, from private parties.

NELSON.

(From the Miner.)

Grading will be begun, in early spring, on the Nelson & Fort Sheppard Railway. The Pend d'Oreille River will be bridged before the water rises, and the work pushed through to a finish. Engineer Roberts expects to have locomotives running to Nelson by September of next year. The depot will be located near to the Columbia and Kootenay Railway Company's depot, and the lines will connect.

The tunnel on the Lizzie C is in 250 feet and the ledge must be close at hand.

The Boulder has been sold. It weighs, according to the engineer's estimate, 122 tons, and is solid high grade galena through and through.

Chadbourne & Jowett in the development work on the Great Western found the lead at a depth of 90 feet, and since they struck it, it has widened out to 16 inches of solid ore running away up.

Mr. Davenport of the Poorman has bonded 7 claims, which he will proceed to develop.

The Freddy Lee mine will ship a thousand, if possible 2,000, tons of ore this winter by way of Kaslo.

Mr. W. D. Middough, of Minneapolis, who was on the Pacific Coast, happened to hear of West Kootenay. He came and saw it. During his short visit he found time to buy 50 claims with a total of $65,000. Mr. Middough will probably pay another visit to Nelson before winter sets in, and will most certainly return in the spring to superintend the working of his claims.

CAPITAL NOTES.

Hon. Theodore Davie Making Good Progress With the Dominion Ministers.

Lieut.-Governor Dewdney to be Sworn in Here on November 9.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

OTTAWA, Oct. 31.—It is likely that Sam Greer's sentence will be commuted. Much compassion is felt for him on account of his daughter's death, and it is understood that Premier Davie interceded with the Minister of Justice on his behalf, and President Van Horne sent Mr. Davie the following telegram: "Montreal, Oct. 29.—Hon. Theo. Davie, Ottawa:—Nothing will give me greater pleasure than to help secure Greer's pardon. I have felt deep sympathy for him from the beginning and have believed that he was worked up to a state of frenzy by others, who did not know what they were talking about. (Signed) VAN HORNE."

Hon Mr. Davie had an interview upon British Columbia affairs for several hours to-day with a sub-committee of the cabinet, consisting of Sir John Thompson, and Hon. Messrs. Carling and Ouimet. The interview was not concluded and will be continued to-morrow. The matters discussed have not been announced, but it is learned that Mr. Davie made a good impression, and he expresses himself well pleased with the evident desire exhibited to accord ample justice to British Columbia. He leaves for Chicago on Wednesday or Thursday. From there he will go to New York, and returning to Ottawa have a further interview with the ministers.

Prof. Saunders says that Canadian farmers are alone to blame for there being no market for two-rowed barley in England this year. The cause is that they sent mixed shipments last season.

A change has been made respecting Hon. Mr. Dewdney's installation as Lieut.-Governor. It has been decided that he will be sworn in by Chief Justice Begbie, in Victoria, on November 9. He leaves here on Wednesday, arriving in Victoria on the 8th. He has been compelled to decline a citizens' ball in Vancouver, owing to these arrangements.

The inspection of the ship canal between Montreal and Quebec shows that there are 27½ feet of water.

Hon. Mr. Tupper stated to-day that Captain Copp's claim to the Rosie Olsen has been finally disposed of, so far as he is concerned. Captain Copp must have recourse to the courts to secure his legal rights, if he has any.

Hon. C. H. Tupper left for England to-day.

CANADIAN NEWS.

(Special to the COLONIST.)

The Monte Videan Safe.

MONTREAL, Oct. 31.—A cablegram received from London, announces the arrival out of the Allan Liner, Monte Videan, for the safety of which, owing to the fact that she was overdue, fears were entertained.

Golf Championship.

MONTREAL, Oct. 31.—The inter-provincial golf match between Ontario and Quebec, for the inter-provincial trophy, took place here on Saturday. Quebec won by a majority of 51 holes.

European Lacrosse Tour.

MONTREAL, Oct. 31.—The Shamrock Lacrosse Club has completed arrangements to make a two months' tour in Ennland and Ireland. The champions expect to leave about the end of February.

Politics in Manitoba.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 31.—It is reported that ex-Attorney-General Martin will oppose Hon. Mr. Daly in Selkirk, although sections of the Liberals do not favor any opposition. Mr. Daly arrives here to-morrow. Major Bell, of Indian Head, will probably be the conservative candidate for East Assiniboia.

Proposed Smelting Works.

KINGSTON, Oct. 31.—Sir Oliver Mowat has decided to take into consideration the proposition of the Rathbuns, of Deseronto, to establish smelting works, provided the Ontario Government gives satisfactory aid.

Departure of Mr. Blake.

Successful Confidence Operation.

TORONTO, Oct. 31.—Chief Government Detective Murray has been notified that Failing, alias Halck, who recently escaped from Stratford jail, while awaiting trial for obtaining money from Banker Scott, of Listowel, by means of a bogus draft, turned up in Salt Lake City, Utah, a few days ago and succeeded in "confidencing" another bank out of $25,000.

FROM SEATTLE.

Politics and the Fire Department—A Nice Prospective Governor—Counterfeiters Caught.

SEATTLE, WN., Oct. 31—(Special)—Because a political combination scheme is on foot to oust the present Chief of the Fire Department, Kellogg, and put another man in his place, the firemen declare to-night, in the Press-Times, that if the change is made they will walk out almost in a body. The matter will be decided at to-morrow night's session of the Fire Commissioners. If the men walk out it will leave Seattle defenceless in case of fire. The underwriters and business men are much excited.

Joseph, a British Columbia Indian, camping at West Seattle, came to the police station, to-day, with a black eye and a tale of woe. He said another Indian had beaten and robbed him of $105. Two Indians, arrested shortly afterwards, will be tried to-morrow.

This is the last week before the election, and the political pot is boiling. The Republican papers here are using every endeavor to blacken the character of the Democratic candidate for governor. The Press-Times, to-night, says he is a gun fighter and bad man from West Virginia.

Thomas Rowley and Kelly Ramsey were arrested at midnight in the town of Gilman for counterfeiting. They were caught with plating tools and dies in their hands.

The suicide of Mrs. C. A. Lombard, at Portland, yesterday, created a sensation here. She was Miss Lizzie Marshall, and up to her marriage a year ago moved in the most exclusive circles here. She was wealthy, and owns $200,000 property in her own right in Seattle.

No arrests have yet been made for the robbery of $400 from Indian Jack at West Seattle on Saturday morning.

CHICAGO SCORCHED.

The Worst Fire Experienced for Some Years—Not Under Control at Last Advices.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—At 1:30 this morning fire was discovered in the new building of the Chicago Athletic Association on Michigan avenue, near Madison street. Owing to the fact that the building was still without a roof, and contained large quantities of building material, the fire spread rapidly. At 2 a.m. it had ignited the large ten-story building of the Chicago Bank Note Company and the St. Bernard Hotel adjoining on the north and west respectively. Good headway is now being made against the flames, and the last named structures may be saved from total destruction. The guests of the St. Bernard Hotel had sufficient warning to make their escape hurriedly dressed, with their valuables and effects. The fire is the worst experienced in this city for two or three years.

2:15 a. m.—The fire is not under control yet. The walls of the Athletic club building have fallen and the panorama of the Chicago fire adjoining on the south has caught fire and will be destroyed. No estimate of the losses can be made at this hour.

MARTIN LUTHER.

The Kaiser Makes His State Visit to the Historic Cathedral of Wittenberg.

He Pledges His Fidelity to the Lutheran Belief Amid Great Enthusiasm.

BERLIN, Oct. 31.—The Emperor William, the Empress and three of their sons went from Potsdam to Wittenberg this morning. They were accompanied by the Duke of York, Prince Gustaff, the Crown Prince of Sweden, Prince Albrecht, the Regent of Brunswick, the Duke of Oldenberg, the Prince of Sax-Meiningen, and Chancellor Von Caprivi. The Emperor drove in an open carriage to the town hall of Wittenberg, where he was received by the Burgomaster, Herr Schild, the magistrates and the municipal councillors. The town was gaily decorated with flags and floral festoons, and a great pavilion had been erected in front of the Schlesskirchen doors. Upon the arrival of the Kaiser at the town hall, Burgomaster Schild read an address, in which he paid a tribute to the worth and generosity of the Kaiser and contrasted the occasion with the entry of Charles I into Wittenberg. The Bourgomaster affirmed that the history of the Slesskirche was virtually the history of the German empire. In his reply the emperor said: "I will always fulfil what my grandfather and father promised, and I rejoice to be able to finish what my father, with his great love for the Lutheran religion, aspired to complete." During the reception the Empress, in company with the princess, her sons and the princesses of Saxe-Meiningen, occupied seats provided for them on the south side of the Council Chamber. From the town hall the procession started for the Slesskirche. The directors of the Wittenberg Theological Seminary led the way and then followed the chief representative of the Lutheran church of Prussia. Then in splendid array came the Protestant sovereign princes and the representatives of those who were not able to be there in person. A squadron of cavalry escorted the Kaiser, who closed the procession. A chorus of male voices sang Luther's hymn as the procession approached and halted at a pavilion opposite the historic door. The architect Adler, with much ceremony, handed the Kaiser the key of the door, and the Kaiser handed the key over to Herr Barkhauff, president of the High Consistory. The latter gave the key to Superintendent Quandt, who unlocked the doors of the church and the procession entered. The Kaiser took his seat on an elevated point, with the Princes of Germany grouped around him, presenting in their attire of state a most picturesque and imposing spectacle.

Business Trouble at Northfield—Shipments of Coal—The Pittendrigh Murder.

(Special to the COLONIST.)

VANCOUVER.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 31.—Coal has been advanced by dealers here to $7.50 per ton, $4 half ton, $2.25 quarter ton.

Messrs. DeWolf and Munro, of this city, who are acting for American capitalists, have bonded an iron claim on Redondo Island from Ed. Wylie. The claim yields 75 per cent.

On Thursday evening the Canadian lodge of Hermannsohnne will give its first ball in the Imperial opera house. Tickets are to be had from members of the society, which includes nearly all the Germans in the city.

A signal service will be provided on the various wharves inside the harbor.

WESTMINSTER.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Oct. 31. — The steamer Mande arrived to-day from Saanich with 300 barrels of lime for the gas company.

The contract for supplying the winter uniforms of the police force has been awarded to M. A. McRae.

The sale of land for taxes at Surrey Centre on Saturday was well attended, and the bidding was lively. The chief buyers were Messrs. C. G. Major, L. P. Eckstein and R. C. Hamilton.

The Vancouver railway bonus by-law came up again, to-day, before Mr. Justice McCreight. The morning sitting was taken up in reading affidavits, and in the afternoon argument was continued. The case will occupy another day at least.

Though the river is being carefully dragged, no trace has yet been found of the body of Whonneck Harry, supposed to have been murdered by Keatsey Jim. Jim was formally charged with murder to-day, and was remanded for eight days by the police magistrate.

The Beagans, Birdie Kazar and Pearl Deming, who are under arrest in connection with the Todhunter tragedy, were again remanded for eight days by the police magistrate. It is understood that the police have lately come into possession of some important facts in connection with this mysterious case.

While walking home from church yesterday morning Miss Upton, sister of Mrs. R. Richardson, slipped on a sidewalk and broke a small bone of her ankle. Miss Upton will be confined to the house about six weeks by the accident.

A public meeting was held at Surrey Centre on Saturday to discuss the Surrey dyking troubles, and was well attended. A resolution was passed to the effect that the council be compelled to pass a by-law striking a rate in accordance with the Surrey dyking act. An amendment to the effect that a public meeting be held to discuss matters before definite action be taken was voted down. It is expected that an application for a writ of mandamus will come up this week in the Supreme court.

No new developments are reported in connection with the Pittendrigh tragedy. Since Friday morning, when Harrison River Charlie was taken in charge, no arrests have been made, but both city and Provincial police are working night and day in the matter. Some of the Indians seem to have the idea that Mary was murdered by drowning the same night as the murder, but this seems rather far-fetched. Charley, Jim and Peter, the Indians arrested in connection with the murder, were brought before the police magistrate this morning and remanded eight days.

There was an immense turn-out of citizens this afternoon at the funeral of the victim. The intense feeling which still prevails had the effect of drawing hundreds to the church to pay the last mark of respect to the dead and show sympathy with the bereaved. The funeral took place from St. Mary's hospital, to Holy Trinity cathedral. It was under military auspices, and the members of No. 1 Battery, B.C.B.G.A., to which deceased belonged, turned out almost to a man. At the churchyard gate the remains were met by Bishop Sillitoe, and the procession entered the church to the strains of solemn music from the band and the organ. The casket was covered with the Union Jack, on which were placed the helmet, belts and side-arms of the deceased. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity, and scores were unable to find seats. Following the service, the cortege proceeded to the Church of England cemetery, the city band playing the dead march. The procession was one of the largest seen in the city for a long time, being fully half a mile in length. On reaching the cemetery, the last rites were performed by Rev. H. Irwin. The firing party fired the customary three volleys over the grave.

NANAIMO.

NANAIMO, Oct. 31.—Little Arthur Webb was seriously burned by setting off firecrackers. They were damp and he got down on his hands and knees to blow them. The crackers, all of a sudden, exploded, burning his face, hands and eyes, which were terribly swollen. He is progressing favorably.

Martin, the electric lamp cleaner, had two ribs broken this afternoon. He was lowering one of the large lamps when the pully gave way and the lamp falling, struck him on the back. Medical aid arrived soon, and he was conveyed home.

The Cedar District fruit and vegetable exhibition was held on Saturday, and was a great success.

The foreign shipments of coal for October were: New Vancouver Coal company, 31,908 tons; Wellington, 16,805; East Wellington, 3,035; being an increase of 6,427 tons over September.

The French syndicate store at Northfield, which is in financial trouble, was taken possession of last week by S. Leiser under a chattel mortgage. Bailiff Locker, who was in charge of the store, returned to town. Meantime some parties, supposed to be members of the syndicate, effected an entrance and barred all the windows and doors. When the bailiff returned he was unable to get in without force. Legal proceedings were instituted at once.

DUNCAN'S.

DUNCAN'S, Oct. 30.—On Thursday:—A. Philip Peacock and wife went down the line, and are staying at Cobble Hill.

On Friday:—W. H. Dorman, Assistant P. O. Inspector, was here. James Daley went down to Victoria, and Walter Woodhus came back from the Capital after undergoing a surgical operation. F. Leather and wife have returned from a short visit to Victoria.

A Saanich Indian was brought up before Indian Agent Lomas at the Indian office, Duncan's, charged with neglecting to support his three klootchmen and their families.

On Saturday:—A meeting of the municipal council of North Cowichan was held in the Agricultural Hall. There were present Reeve W. Drinkwater and councillors W. H. Lomas, J. W. Evans and T. A. Wood. A deputation of the settlers around Somenos Lake headed by Mr. John Watson waited upon the council and urged that steps be taken to lower the lake. A report was received from Mr. Priest, C. E., stating that the lowering of the lake was feasible and reporting favorably thereon. A resolution was passed authorizing the cremation of the body of the late James Shopland, whose death from smallpox had occurred on the previous day, and the destruction by fire of the deceased's dwelling, clothing, etc.

J. C. Prevost, Harvey Combe, Supt. F. S. Hussey, W. Mathew, S. Little and A. M. Morrison came up from Victoria.

Under the directions of Superintendent Hussey, the body of the late James Shopland was buried in a field near his residence, Rev. J. Sutherland reading the burial service. Shortly after the burial, deceased's house, with his clothing, etc., was set fire to and burned to the ground. The deceased was well known and respected throughout the Cowichan District as a hard-working, progressive farmer. He was a bachelor and was about 28 years of age.

Address By Miss Frances Willard—Satisfactory Growth and Prosperity Reported.

Tribute to the President—Statistics as to Membership, Funds, Etc.

DENVER, Oct. 29—The National Woman's Christian Temperance Union met here yesterday in annual session. Miss Frances E. Willard presided and delivered the annual address, covering the work of the union for the past year. Speaking of the work to come and making sundry suggestions for a furtherance of the objects of the association, Miss Willard recommends that local unions petition their respective legislatures to establish homes for drunkards, with a view to their reformation. Touching cures for drunkenness, she expressed an earnest belief in the efficacy of science in that direction, and suggests that the union establish such an institution, to be run not as a money-making concern. On the subject of prohibition she said that 4,000 of the 9,000 saloons in New York city were mortgaged to 20 breweries. These saloons controlled 40,000 votes, or the balance of power in the city; the balance of power in the city controlled the state, and the state in turn controlled the result in the nation, so that 20 breweries in New York city controlled the fate of this nation. She admitted that prohibition has passed the stage of enthusiasm, but declared it was advancing with the steady tread of the veteran.

The speaker congratulated the Kansas Republicans on having endorsed woman suffrage. She said her honest fealty had been given to Gen. Bidwell and Rev. Cranfield, the Prohibition candidates for President and Vice-President. She still rejoiced in the strong help given civil service reform by the Democratic candidate, though sorry for his subserviency to the Tammany tiger. She remembered proudly the clean personal record of President Harrison, though she was sorry that he used wine, and that he could not return to power without the liquor vote. She then expressed sympathy with him in his bereavement. As an argument in favor of woman suffrage, and in view of the threatened dangers from the foreign vote, she quoted figures from the superintendent of census showing that the proportion of native-born to foreign-born women in this country is six to one. The speaker devoted considerable time to the World's Fair, favoring closing it on Sunday, and calling on local unions to work with their state legislatures toward closing state exhibits on Sunday. She said that Chicago would be the saloon battle ground next year, and the union must be prepared to make a fight against it. She said a polyglot temperance petition had been signed this year by 1,112,735 persons. It is probable that the petition will be over 12 miles long and will contain names from all parts of the world. A peculiar thing is the fact that the proportion of names from the United States is smallest of all.

On the completion by Miss Willard of her address, Lady Somerset moved the acceptance of it, which was enthusiastically done. Several bouquets of beautiful flowers were presented to Miss Willard by her many friends.

At the afternoon session the report of the corresponding secretary, Miss Buell, was read and adopted. It shows the union to be in a most flourishing condition. The total number of auxiliaries is 7,877; total membership of "Y's," 142,563; number of coffee houses, etc., 282; money raised by local unions, $336,244; by state unions, $123,879. The report of the treasurer, Miss Esther Pugh, shows that financial affairs are in a flourishing condition, embodying details of the total given above. The reports of the national organizers were also received.

At the evening session addresses of welcome and responses occupied most of the time.

The convention held a great session, with an overflow meeting, to-day. Several able addresses were given and some interesting papers read and discussed. Mrs. McFarland, a representative from the W. C. T. U. at St. Johns, Canada, made a few pointed remarks. She said the franchise would be granted in Canada before it was accorded them in the United States. Mrs. Wade, fraternal delegate from Winnipeg, Man., told how temperance work was advancing there.

ST. ANDREW'S CATHEDRAL.

Solemnly Dedicated to the Worship of God in the Presence of Thousands.

Imposing Ceremonies in the Old and New Churches—A Grand Procession.

The dedication and consecration services at St. Andrew's Cathedral on Sunday were, as anticipated, the occasion of a great stir in Roman Catholic circles, and the just pride which was manifested in the event there was no attempt at concealing. The accommodation the new edifice is capable of affording was put to a very severe test, and fully demonstrated the fact that in cases of emergency it can respond to any reasonable call for more room than it is ordinarily supposed to furnish. Every available seat was occupied long before the procession of bishops and priests, bearing the blessed sacrament from its old abiding place in the pro-cathedral, appeared at the doors of the new edifice. With the procession came those who had been attending the last mass celebrated in old St. Andrew's, and for these places had to be found in a building already well filled. The first call was made upon the seats along the main aisle, where a little closer packing considerably diminished the overflow. Then the side wings were appealed to with like good results, and in turn the gallery and organ loft gave place to very many who would otherwise have been obliged to forego the pleasure and profit of the grand service. Still, there were hundreds to be accommodated. Chairs were placed wherever they could be crowded in, and when all these were taken up, every available spot where there was standing room found an eager occupant. There must have been over 2,000 persons present.

There were masses in the pro-cathedral every half hour from six o'clock in the morning until nine, when a solemn formal adieu was taken of the old building, with all its endearing and sacred associations. The last act in the affecting leave-taking was the removal of the sacrament by Rt. Rev. Bishop Lemmens, the clergy reciting the Ponge Lingua.

The dedication of the new cathedral took place at eight o'clock, the ceremony of the blessing being performed by Bishop Lemmens, assisted by the visiting bishops and clergy generally. Immediately after the ceremony His Lordship entered the baptistry, where the infant child of Mr. Stephen O'Brien was christened—the first ceremony of the kind in the new edifice. The little one who enjoyed the distinction is called Clara. Capt. Spring's infant was afterwards christened, her name being Iolene, and then the child of Mr. J. Frederickson was formally received into the church, being called Andrew—after the saint to whom the cathedral is dedicated.

At 10 o'clock there was pontifical high mass in the new cathedral, in which the following took part: Right Rev. Bishop Lemmens, Archbishop Gross, Portland; Very Rev. Father Gross, V.G., North Carolina; Very Rev. Father Fayard, Superior Oblate Fathers, Westminster; Rev. Father Demanez, Seattle; Rev. Father Nicolaye, Rev. Father Laterme and others.

Right Rev. Bishop Lemmens celebrated high mass, with Rev. Father Fayard as assistant priest. The deacons of honor were Very Rev. Father Demanez, Seattle; Very Rev. Father Gross, deacon of Mass, Rev. Father Nicolaye; sub-deacon, Rev. Father Laterme.

Most Rev. Archbishop Gross was attended at the throne by Very Rev. Father Hylebos, Tacoma, as assistant priest, and Father Donckele as deacon of honor. Rev. Father Althoff, of Juneau, and Rev. Father Heynen, of Clayoquot, acted as chaplains. Rev. Father Durand, Comox, was crozier bearer, and Rev. Father Solry, Nanaimo, mitre bearer. Rev. Father Van Goethen was censer bearer, and Rev. Father Van Nevel master of ceremonies.

The Y.M.I., of Victoria, Vancouver, Wellington and Nanaimo, headed the procession, followed by the cross bearers and two acolytes carrying lighted tapers, and as the bishops entered the "Marche Triomphante" was given in grand style by the band of H.M.S. Warspite, which proved a decided acquisition to the choir, its music being much admired by all present. While the bishops were disrobing Mrs. Charles played a grand organ prelude which was much admired. It is safe to say that the music rendered was the best of its kind ever heard in Victoria. Many of the numbers were new, and all were good—so excellent in fact, that it is difficult to particularize. Marzo's "Kyrie" was most effectually rendered. The solo parts were taken by Miss Goddyn, whose sweet soprano was heard to great advantage, and Miss M. Stewart, who had full scope for her fine alto voice.

In the "Gloria" there are four solo parts. They were entrusted to Miss Goddyn (soprano). Mr. A. Werner (tenor.) Mr. C. Lombard (baritone), and Mr. F. Sehl (basso). This gave a pleasant foretaste of the good things the choir had in store, and as number after number was rendered, the admiration of the music increased. The graduale "Jubilate Deo," is the composition of Mr. A. Werner, the talented leader of St. Andrew's Choral Society, and is a fine piece of music, which will, no doubt, be oft repeated. Miller's quartetter, "Veni Creator," was another of the gems of the day. Mr. Werner's clear, rich tenor was very effective, as were also the fine voices of Mr. S. Aspland and Mr. F. Lang, and the basso of Mr. C. Lombard and Mr. F. Sehl. In the "Credo" the solo parts were taken by Miss Goddyn and Mr. Werner. This is by many considered to be Marzo's finest creation. Its beautiful evenness of movement and solemnity, no doubt, gained for it the popular verdict. Had it been rendered as it was on Sunday, any place without the sacred precints of a church, it would have been applauded to the echo. The solo quartette in the Benedictus (Millard's) introduced Miss K. Burnes very effectively. She was assisted by Messrs. Stewart, Lang and Sehl, and a chorus that was edifying.

In the "Agnus Dei" there was an alto and soprano solo and duet by Mrs. Macaulay and Miss Godayn, and a very effective chorus. The Hallelujah chorus from Handel's "Messiah," was the last and best item on the morning's musical programme, and like the others, was well given. It, however, showed the weakness of the choir generally, in handling a heavy chorus. The basso element is not as strong as it ought to be—indeed, the choir generally, would be improved by the addition of more voices in almost every department. That so much has been accomplished in so short a time (the St. Andrews Choral Society dates its existence from July last) is highly creditable to its competent and painstaking leader, Mr. Werner. Then, again, the organ in use is no suitable instrument for such a church. Were it not for the services of the Warspite band the grand effect of Sunday's musical programme must have been seriously detracted from.

The evening's programme was as follows, and, like that which preceded it, was thoroughly admired and appreciated:

Compline.....Gregorian
Veni Sancte Spiritus.....Miller
Sermon.....
"Great is Jehovah the Lord," Tenor Solo and Chorus.....Schubert
Jesu Dei Vivi.....Verdi
Ave Maria.....Archbishop Seghers
Tantum Ergo, Grand Chorus....Paola Givaza
Laudate Domine.....Gregorian

THE PREACHERS.

The pulpit was occupied in the morning by Archbishop Gross, whose eloquence was enjoyed for upwards of an hour. He spoke of the destruction of the temple of Jerusalem, and showed that its downfall had been prophesied, and, being prophesied by the word of God, the destruction, complete and perfect, had come about. There were unbelievers who scoffed at the idea of such a temple being ruined, and even the final traces of what was once the pride of the world had been obliterated, several attempts had been made to preserve and rebuild it. But God had said the temple must go, and man could not avert its destruction. The unbelieving kings and princes of that day conceived the idea if they could but prove this prophecy false, they would deal a death blow at the religion of God. They tried to preserve the temple; but their efforts were futile, because God had said "Not one stone shall stand upon another." God had spoken, and what he said must come to pass; it was useless, it was criminal for man to attempt to prove the prophecy of his God a falsehood. Everything which had been foretold by Him or by the voice of His servants had happened, or would come to pass. The history of the world had proved this, and every day it was becoming more clearly proven.

When Christ collected his apostles together He told them to "go into all the world and preach the Gospel," and gave them the assurance, "Lo, I will be with you always." Was the gospel not this day being preached throughout the length and breadth of the world, and was not God with His Church always? He gave the command, and He gave the promise. There had been a direct succession of the apostles, in the Popes of Rome and the Bishops of the Roman Catholic Church, and that direct and unbroken succession could be as clearly traced as any event in history. Take, for instance, the Kings of England or the ruling governors of any country in the world. Ask the question, who was the first king of England? and History gave the answer. Who the next, and the next, and the next, and every one down to the present day? History answered the question. The presidents of the United States could be traced in like manner, as could also the rulers of any nation. Take the churches of the world, and in like manner they could all be traced to a starting point. The Protestant Church had its date from Martin Luther, then came the Calvinists, traced to Calvin; the Presbyterians, the Methodists—all could be traced to their respective founders. So with the Roman Catholic Church—it could be traced to its founder, who was Christ Himself. The apostles were the chosen of Christ; they were commanded to go into all the world and preach the Gospel, and the direct unbroken succession could be traced from the Apostle Peter.

And what were the apostles to preach?—the Gospel of Christ. That was the Gospel, the same grand Gospel which was preached by their successors to the present day, and which would be preached by them to the end of time. While in the Protestant Church—and he said it with all due respect to the members of that Church—there were different sects and different opinions on matter of doctrine and discipline, in the Roman Catholic Church all held to the same faith, the same God, the same doctrine. This was so the world over—wherever the Roman Catholic Church was to be found—and where on the face of God's earth was there a clime or a country in which the Roman Catholic Church was not doing her good work, fulfilling the command of the master, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel!" Wherever this gospel was preached by the Roman Catholic church it was the same—the same faith ruled all. During the American war he had ministered to the dying wants of many soldiers—men who fought with the North and those who died for the cause of the South. And the one single question he was asked by the dying soldier, whether that soldier was English or Irish, German or Frenchman, Italian or Swede, was, "Are you a Roman Catholic priest?" When this answer was given in the affirmative what a peace and joy seemed to enter into the heart of the poor sufferer! A Roman Catholic priest—they knew that the same faith was held by him as that they lisped in their far off homes, and in their various languages, at their mother's side. This was the church with 300,000,000 members, whose faith was absolutely the same, no matter what their country, clime or color. Here, in this far off end of the world, the faithful followers of the Great Master had erected the grand cathedral to his service, in which they were that day worshipping.

In conclusion, His Lordship congratulated Bishop Lemmens and the priests and people associated with him upon their grand cathedral, and expressed the fervent hope that they would long be spared to worship within its walls.

After service the prelates and clergy dined at the palace, where a sumptuous repast had been prepared for them by Mrs. Patton, Miss Skinner, Miss McGreghegan, and Mrs. McNeill.

At evening service the cathedral was also crowded, and with all its lights—electric and gas—aglow it looked even better than during the day. The preacher was Very Rev. Father Gross, who spoke upon salvation. The price paid for the soul's salvation, he pointed out, was the blood of the crucified Christ, and a treasure so rich should be valued beyond all things. The occupant of the pulpit is a very eloquent speaker, and was listened to throughout with the greatest attention.

After service the visitors again enjoyed the hospitality of the palace, and the Archbishop and Very Rev. Father Gross left by the Kingston, a large party seeing them off and wishing them God speed.

Storms Off Panama.

PANAMA, via Galveston, Oct. 29.—The heavy north-westerly gale which set in at Colton on Thursday, causing great inconvenience to shipping, continues, and fears for the safety of vessels are entertained. The breakers are so severe as to make anchoring impossible. The Pacific Mail Line steamer Columbia, which at first put out to sea for safety, in the belief that the trouble would be of short duration, has gone to Porto Bello for awhile. The Concord is still holding her own in the bay, riding over the storm. Thus far little damage to shipping is reported, though more losses will probably be heard of in due course of time.

A DISINTERESTED OPINION.

Interest is taken in the Behring Sea question on the other side of the Pacific. The news of the seizure of British and American sealing schooners in the North Pacific by a Russian cruiser created quite a sensation in the English colony in Yokohama and the telegram sent from London conveying the information that a British man-of-war was to be despatched to Vladivostock with instructions to demand the release of any Canadian sailors held prisoners by the Russian authorities was hailed with unfeigned gladness. The English in Japan were pleased to find that Lord Rosebery had determined to pursue a vigorous foreign policy. The Japan Mail, in an editorial on the subject, after expressing its satisfaction that the British Government had taken prompt action in the matter, goes on to say:—

Reuter announces that a British man-of-war to be dispatched to Vladivostock to demand the release of any Canadian sailors who may be detained there in connection with the sealing vessels seized. Meantime no doubt the case of the seizures is being investigated. The Russians seized one or more American vessels at the same time, the crews of which complain bitterly of ill-treatment. Probably the Washington Government will join in any remonstrance against these high-handed proceedings, but, however that may be, the British Government cannot tamely submit to such treatment without loss of prestige both at home and abroad. If, on investigation, the sealers are found to have violated Russian waters or regulations, they will of course have to take the consequences, but even that will not afford excuse for the brutal treatment of the crews. Possibly this may be due to the action of some local officials, but none the less it calls for explanation and apology. Rord Roseberry is fortunately not like Lord Granville; he knows his mind and will not hesitate to speak it.

The Mail is wrong in supposing that the American Government would resent the outrages committed on United States citizens and demand immediate reparation. It, on the contrary, appears to be well pleased that Russia has asserted its sovereignty in the Pacific, even though its own citizens have been among the victims. American politicians seem to think that in some way the action of Russia will strengthen the American case before the arbitrators.

THE HONEST TRUTH.

There is, after all, a good deal of independence in the press of the United States. Newspaper editors will say what they believe to be right in spite of the pressure of authority and the still more powerful force of national partiality. We have seen that the most forcible arguments against the claim of exclusive sovereignty over Behring Sea have appeared in American publications, and that even American officials have been so impressed with the absurdity of the contention of their Government and with the inconsistency of their practice that they could not, as it were, help protesting against their nation being placed in a position not only false but ridiculous. And now we have an American newspaper, the Boston Herald, showing, in a slightly sarcastic way, why it is that the American people submit to outrages and insults at the hands of the Russians which they would promptly and fiercely resent if they had been committed and offered by British subjects. The Herald, in a recent number, says:

Of course the Russian claim to extraordinary jurisdiction in Behring sea rests upon the same grounds as the pretensions that we have put forward; we drawing ours from the alleged rights which Russia transferred to us at the time of our purchase of Alaska. The Herald has more than once indicated its entire disbelief in the soundness of these pretensions, and in anticipation of the finding of the international tribunal has never hesitated to condemn the action of the state department in resting what could easily be made a good and equitable case upon such an archaic and wormeaten foundation. It hardly need be stated that if we did not have a seal fishery controversy of our own the seizure of certain American sealers by the Russian authorities and the barbaric treatment which the crews of the vessels have had to endure, would arouse the indignation of our people, and if it were practised by the English instead of by the Russians would be used to fan up a feeling that would demand a declaration of war if reparation was not instantly made. But this fine show of spirit has to be suppressed, first, because if the claims we are making upon a certain part of Behring Sea are to have any force and effect, the Russian cruisers are fully justified in seizing these American sealing vessels, while, curiously enough, it is very much easier when American citizens are maltreated to evoke sentiments of hostility if the persecutors are English officials than is the case when the barbarity is practiced by representatives of the Russian Government. This, too, although the latter is the greatest and most intense despotism that exists upon the face of the earth.

It is evident that the Herald not only sees the inconsistency of our neighbors in patiently and uncomplainingly submitting to injuries from the Russians, but is amused at the spectacle. We have a notion, however, that in this matter our neighbors have practiced the virtues of forbearance, and humility in vain, for the arbitrators will consider the questions submitted to them on their merits, without any reference to what the Russians did this summer in the Pacific Ocean, to either British or American sealers.

IMPERIAL FEDERATION.

Every intelligent Canadian, and particularly every public man and newspaper editor, should read, and read carefully, "Imperial Federation, the Problem of National Unity," by George R. Parkin. Many Canadians have fallen into the habit of sneering at Imperial Federation and of speaking contemptuously of its advocates. The great majority of those who do this, we venture to say, have thought very little about Imperial Federation, and have not read what has been written in its favor. It is their ignorance of the subject that causes them to speak lightly of it and to condemn those who advocate it as enthusiasts and impracticable dreamers.

But the subject is a practical one, and one that is certain, sooner or later, to force itself on the attention of all thinking men, both in the Mother Country and the colonies. What is to be the future relations between Great Britain and her dependencies is a question that affects every subject of Queen Victoria, whether he lives in Great Britain or in one of her numerous dependencies. Mr. Parkin shows this in his book very clearly. He makes it evident that Great Britain and her colonies are more closely connected and more dependent on each other than superficial thinkers are apt to imagine.

The position of the Mother Country is very peculiar. She has become the manufacturer for the world. Comparatively few of her people are occupied in producing food to sustain themselves and their fellow-countrymen. They must depend upon foreign countries and the colonies for food, and also for the greater part of the raw material of their many manufactures. Deprive Great Britain of her outside supply, both of food stuffs and raw material, for six months and the whole of her population would be on the borders of starvation, and more than one-half of the working classes would have nothing to do.

To a country so situated unfettered commerce is a necessity, and to keep that commerce free she must, when circumstances require it, have command of the seas, or rather she must be in a position to protect her ships and her traders wherever they may be. In order to do this effectively she must have possessions in all parts of the world. She must have seaports in countries friendly to her, in which her steamers can receive supplies of coal and other material and in which they can refit if they are in any way damaged. In a word, colonies are a necessity to Great Britain. Without them she could not be the great commercial country that she is and without them she could not maintain the maritime supremacy on which her very existence now depends.

But the colonies need Great Britain as much as Great Britain needs the colonies. While they were young and struggling communities were it not for the protection she extended to them they would have become the prey of every ambitious nation which desires to extend its dominions. All the colonies of Great Britain need that protection still. Not one of them is in a position to maintain its independence in the face of powerful and ambitious neighbors. And such has been the relations between the colonies and the Mother Country that none of them desire independence. The colonial tie may chafe a little sometimes, but it has not been found to be galling, and there is no colony that desires its severance.

The question then comes up, is not a closer alliance possible? Cannot the colonies change their status from that of dependencies to parts of a federation of sovereign states? Cannot Greater Britain be transformed into a Great Britain which shall include the whole of what is now the Empire of Great Britain? Cannot Canada, for instance, become an integral part of the British nation with an adequate representation in her councils? Cannot Great Britain and her colonies be so united that each member of the Union shall contribute to the strength and the wealth and the greatness of the whole? This is the problem which Mr. Parkin would like to see solved, and to the solution of which he, in our opinion, in no small degree contributes.

His book is remarkably well written. The reader sees at a glance that he has carefully studied the subject, and that his heart is in his work. He, too, will rise from its perusal impressed with the importance of the subject of Imperial Federation, and, whether he agrees with the author or not, with a respect for him and for those who labor with him in the cause of National Unity.

STILL BEWILDERED.

We find that all our American contemporaries are as greatly bewildered in trying to form a reasonable opinion as to what will be the result of the presidential election as we are on this side of the line. It is the large element of admitted uncertainty that puzzles the calculators. In this the presidential election closely resembles the British general election of a few months ago. In trying to make forecasts for the use of the politicians and for the information of the public, the large number of doubtful counties and boroughs vitiated every calculation made by either Conservatives or Liberals. A similar element in the United States appals even the partisan editor, and causes him to refrain from confident predictions of victory for his side. In this he is wise, for the 8th of November is so near that his prophecy would not be forgotten, and he does not like the idea of being represented by triumphant opponents as a fool or a senseless braggart if the election—as it is as likely as not to do—should go against his party. The St. Paul Pioneer Press, which is moderately but firmly Republican, accounts for the reluctance of the politicians to make predictions in this way:—

The main cause of this growing uncertainty that marks our presidential contests is the great growth of the country. It is too big a nation to be carried about by anybody or corralled by any committee. The task of estimating in advance its probable action is too stupendous for any mind to assume or any organization to carry out. The event of November 8th depends on the free determinations of about 13,000,000 voters, and 1,000 of them, more or less, may settle it one way or the other. It is simply beyond the reach of any political agency to say in advance what such decision shall be. Of course there are elements of certainty. Nobody questions for whom the vote of Vermont or that of Mississippi will be cast. But the doubtful list is large enough, and it is increasing in length with every campaign. The great State of New York alone, the center and pivot of uncertainty, will cast considerably more than 1,000,000 votes. To keep tally of these prior to their casting is an impossible task. To all this is to be added the effect of the Australian ballot law, now in force in three fourths of the States. The secret ballot vitiates nearly all committee calculations. A man may make up his mind or change his mind at the last moment, and not until he has come out of the polling booth can he be counted definitely. With all these influences at work, the increasing frequency of independent political action, the secrecy of the reformed ballot and the enormous problem that is to be dealt with, speculation in advance is unprofitable. It is a country too big to be managed or run according to schedule any longer.

SEALERS SAFE AT HOME.

The Captured Crews of the "Maria" and "Carmolite" Arrive by the Empress.

British Rights Will be Protected by British Might—A Story of Adventure.

Captains Balcolm and Hughes, commanding the sealing schooners Maria and Carmolite, reached home with their crews and three of the missing men of the Annie C. Moore by the Empress of Japan on Sunday. They have had their share of hardships and were well pleased to reach civilization again even if their pockets were empty, the total capital of the 39 sealers at the close of a hard season being the few cents realized by the sale of a pair of rubber boots in Yokohama.

The story told by the new arrivals does not possess any especial novelty. They were made prisoners off Copper Island, their vessels taken from them, their sealskins confiscated and themselves treated with very little consideration. The Maria was 13 miles off shore when seized; the Carmolite was 25 miles out. This did not make any difference to the Russians, whose admiral informed the captains that he would seize sealers wherever he found them—five miles or 75 miles were all the same. He would not be so apt to be looking for them 75 miles out, but if he chanced upon a schooner there he would gather it in.

H. Murray and W. Nesbitt, hunters, and J. Devoe, boat puller, of the Annie C. Moore, were the first of the new arrivals to fall into the clutches of the Bear. They were in the boats off Copper Island on August 2, when they lost the schooner in the fog and boats from shore took them prisoners. The natives proved kind—the authorities paid no attention to them—and gave them of their bread and tea as long as they were on the island.

On the 21st the Kotik, the Fur Company's steamer, bearing the Governor of Behring Island, called to take the three "prisoners" to Petropaulovsky, and the same day the lookout on the highest point of the island reported a schooner some 12 or 13 miles off. The fog, which before had hid her from view, settled down again soon after, but the glimpse enabled the officers of the Kotik to locate their prey. With the Moore's men aboard they started on the chase, and soon had made Capt. Balcolm and his crew prisoners, and the Maria, with her 623 skins, a prize. The second mate of the Kotik, with an Aleut crew and a few Cossacks, was put in charge to navigate the schooner to Petropaulovsky, and the steamer, with the sealers on board, made the same port on the 29th.

The day before their arrival, August 28, witnessed the capture of the Carmolite, Capt. Hughes. She was at the time 25 miles south-east of Copper Island, having been chased 10 or 12 miles by the Russian cruiser Witges, which finally overhauled her. The Russian admiral was aboard, and himself directed the disposal of the prize and her 608 skins. The schooner was sent with a prize crew to Petropaulovsky, and "all hands" were taken to the same desolate place by the man-of-war, which on the way called at the convict stations and gave the Victoria passengers a very good insight into Siberian prison life. During the trip the prisoners were treated just the same as the Russian sailors, and though the living was bad the sealers say "we couldn't kick; it was no worse than their own."

At Vladivostock all were turned on the beach and told to do the best they could. The Carmolite's men were allowed 7½ cents per day with which to buy provisions, while those of the Maria were permitted to take stores from their schooner, which was very much better. The entire company of sealers found shelter in a deserted and roofless house on the outskirts of the straggling town.

In the port of Vladivostock to which the party were soon after taken by the "Witges," they saw their own schooners with others that had been taken this year, and the Hamilton Lewis, seized in '91 and now offered for sale. The railway to Odessa, about completed, offered employment, and they were told they could go to work if they so wished. As the rate of wages is considerably under ten cents per day they respectfully submitted that they would prefer to go home, if it made no difference.

While on board the Witges, Captain Holmes was informed by the Admiral that he would have to sign a paper similar to that presented to the masters of the Ariel, Willie McGowan and Rosie Olsen for their signatures. The document was read over and translated, and as soon as Captain Holmes learned that it was practically a confession that he was sealing where he had no right to, he declined. Threats were freely used, but proved ineffectual, and the Russians did not get the signature of the skipper.

The Russians in all their movements showed a strong disposition to economise, and when the Tokio-Maru called at Vladivostock, en route to Nagasaki, they volunteered to pay for the passage of the prisoners to the Japanese port. The offer was gladly accepted, and the three crews embarked. Of course, they went steerage, and native steerage at that, so the fare on board was not delicate or substantial—rice which had to be eaten with chopsticks, and a native dish made from sea weed and kelp, neither appetizing nor strengthening. It was not fatal, though, and Nagasaki was finally reached, where the British consul soon placed them in the enjoyment of the comforts of life.

At Nagasaki it was learned that H. M. S. Leander had been sent to Vladivostock with orders to secure their release if held in custody there, and on the return of the warship, the sealers were invited aboard by her commander for a consultation, which lasted an entire day. The British captain, in concluding the interview, said to Captain Holmes:

"I am not to tell you that your sealing schooners have been illegally taken from you, but there is the treaty, the only law on the subject, which shows you were quite within your rights. And British rights on the high seas will be at all times protected by British strength."

The day the unfortunate sealers sailed for home, the Leander, with two other men-of-war from the China station was returning to Vladivostock under orders, in connection with the recovery of the schooners and the satisfaction of damages by the Russians.

"I feel more than hopeful," said Capt. Holems to a COLONIST man on board the Empress of Japan, "that we'll get our schooners back and be well paid for all our losses. The British are acting vigorously and will see that we get our rights. That's all we want."

Hood's Sarsaparilla is an honest medicine, honestly advertised for those diseases which it honestly and absolutely cures.

FROM COWICHAN.

TO THE EDITOR:—Your editorial comments on our protest against the conduct of the Provincial Health Officer are, to say the least, misleading and inconsistent. "Professional etiquette" is not mentioned by us, but we charge the Provincial Health Officer with gross discourtesy to us, and with taking advantage of his official position to depreciate and injure us. You ignore the fact that Dr. Dickson is the legally appointed Municipal Health Officer and Public Vaccinator. Until he had proved himself incompetent or negligent he was entitled to expect the support and approval of the Provincial Health Officer.

Your contention that Dr. Davie visited Duncan's in his private capacity and to vaccinate his old neighbors and their children is inconsistent with all that took place at the time, with the employment of the police constable and the subsequent appointment of a "medical man from Victoria" to visit and inspect in the following week.

As to the trip to the country to vaccinate without fee "or reward some 120 persons," we contend that so long as Dr. Davie is the Provincial Health Officer he cannot in matters of public health disassociate himself from his official position, and his refusal to supply the local practitioners with lymph and his insistance on the operation being performed by himself confirm the justice of our complaint.

CORRECTIONS.

TO THE EDITOR:—From the report given of the evidence of Dr. Sproule before the Royal Commission, I see he states that the reason of his telling me that I had not the smallpox was to allay my fears (?)

I do not wish to make any attack upon Dr. Sproule, but must emphatically deny his statement that he deceived me in order to allay fears, which, under the circumstances, I never could have experienced, as I had not the slightest idea that there was a positive case of smallpox in town until he told me on Thursday evening, assuring me that I was clear of it, and not to believe it if told otherwise.

This unnecessary deception placed me in a very uncomfortable position with those I came in contact with the day I got up and went out, besides its serious importance from a medical point of view. He also stated that he attended me on the 5th, 6th and 7th of July, which is not correct, as I was on duty until twelve o'clock on the night of the 5th, and did not call him to see me until the morning of the 6th.

This and one or two other little incorrect statements are not important, but being given under oath I thought it better to correct them. A. B. MONKHOUSE.

The Plowing Match.

At a meeting of those interested in the plowing match arranged for Nov. 5, it was decided to postpone the date until the 12th inst., and to hold another meeting on Wednesday evening next, to arrange for prizes, etc. The grounds to be plowed are on the farm of Mr. George Deans, at Mount Tolmie.

Suspected of Burglary.

Mr. W. H. Jones, the Store street merchant, thinks he has found the man who entered his place on the 27th of October and took therefrom some $250 worth of cigars, cigarettes and tobaccos. On the day mentioned he employed a Chinaman named Wing to saw some wood. Wing was caught prowling about the kitchen, but nothing was thought of it until the police pronounced the robbery the work of Chinamen, and then Wing could not be found. Mr. Jones happened to run across him yesterday and turned him over to the police. Wing was locked up, and will be given a chance to explain in the Police Court today. When searched he had $253.75 in gold, silver and bills in a purse. The charge is booked, "Suspected of burglary."

A Quiet Celebration.

It used to be a good old fashion of Hallow E'en to get a large mellow pumpkin, carve out the inside and replace it with a candle, and then hang the ogre with the smiling face on the nearest neighbor's gate post to frighten pedestrians. Likewise it was considered the proper thing to borrow gates signs, shutters; ring door bells, play "ghost," and so on, but nowadays these customs have so far been abandoned that last night there was hardly any noticeable change, only a few of the youngsters going in for amusement of any kind. This evening a Scottish Concert is to be given in the Sir William Wallace Hall, when it is expected there will be a good crowd present.

Extension of Birdcage Walk

—FROM—

Michigan Street to Toronto Street, and Widening of Carr Street from Toronto Street to Dallas Road, by the Local Improvement System.

Pursuant to section 15 of By-Law No. 170, intituled a by-law to provide for the assessment of real property benefited by Local Improvement, the following report from the City Engineer and City Assessor, including schedule, showing the proportion of assessment on the property benefited by the proposed improvements, is hereby published, viz:—

City Hall, Victoria, B. C., October 26, 1892.

To His Worship the Mayor, and Board of Aldermen.

GENTLEMEN:—We the undersigned having received a copy of a resolution passed by the Council on the 21st of October, re-extension of Bird Cage Walk, sixty feet in width from Michigan street, southerly through Block 61 to Toronto street, to connect with Carr street, and the widening of Carr street to a width of sixty feet from Toronto street to Dallas road, through Block, 1, 12, 2, 7, and 5, Beckley Farm, have the honor to submit the report and plan attached in conformity with Sections 4 and 5, By-Law 170, intituled "A By-law to provide for the assessment of real property benefited by local improvements."

The following is a description of the real property which in our opinion will by benefited by local improvements, viz: Lots, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, part of 19, 20, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, all in section 6. Also subdivision of Lots 1718 to 1722; and 1741 to 1745, subdivision 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6, 1717 and 1746 of Block 60, also Lots 1767, 1768, 1800, 1799, 1798, also subdivision of Lots 1763 to 1765, and 1801 to 1805, subdivisions 12, 13 and 14, all of Block 61. Also Lots 32, 33, 34, 3, 2 and 1, of Block 1, Beckley Farm, also a part of Block 1, Beckley Farm. Lots 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 of Block 12, Beckley Farm, and also a part of 12, Beckley Farm. Also 1, 2, 3, 4, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16 of Block 7, Beckley Farm. Also 1, 2, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 and 18 of Block 6, of Beckley Farm. Also parts of 4 and 5 Beckley Farm. Also Lots 1, 2, 3, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21 and 22 of Blocks 3, 4 and 5, Beckley Farm. Also Part of Block 2, Beckley Farm.

We consider the proposed improvement will be permanent.

The estimate cost of the proposed improvement, including right of way, removing fences, removing and making good buildings, grading and macadamizing street, laying sidewalks, etc., is $11,811.09, which amount is assessed against the property that in our opinion is immediately benefited.

The proportion in which the assessment is made on the various portions of the real property benefited is described in detail in the list hereto attached.

The real property benefited is shown tinted red on the plan attached.

We have the honor to be, your obedient servants. (Signed)

E. A. WILMOT,
City Engineer.
W. W. NORTHCOTT,
City Assessor.

THE CITY.

Sewerage Report.

The report of the Sewerage Committee will be ready to present to the council to-morrow evening.

The Partnership Dissolved.

Messrs. Cowan & Wilson, wholesale grocers, Yates street, have dissolved partnership, Wilson Brothers continuing.

On Wednesday Morning.

His Lordship Bishop Hills will administer holy communion at 8 o'clock on Wednesday (to-morrow) morning at Christ Church Cathedral.

The Y. L. I. Meet.

The Young Ladies Institute held a regular business meeting in the Bishop's palace last evening. Nothing more than the usual routine business was transacted.

Settled out of Court.

Williams v. Spencer, an action arising out of the dispute over the Malcolm Island colony, was settled out of court yesterday on terms mutually satisfactory. Spencer pays Williams $50 and receiver's expenses of $25 per month and the latter hands over the property.

A New Chef.

With his usual enterprise, Mr. Jensen, of the Dallas, has secured the services of Mr. J. Le Compte, who has so high a reputation all over the continent as a chef de cuisine. Mr. Jensen is to be congratulated on this step, which will no doubt tend to increase the popularity of his establishment.

Stolen Property.

Sergt. Levin has had his official eye on a gang of boys, who have been suspected of petty thieving for some time. They have been living in a cabin on Humboldt street. On Sunday evening two of them were arrested for having stolen property in their possession. A third member of the gang escaped.

Excellent Timber.

The excellent quality of British Columbia timber is testified to by the recent purchase of a cargo of heavy spars from the Hastings saw mill by Mr. Thos. Bently, of Halifax. Mr. Bently is a well-known spar maker, who is never satisfied with anything short of the best, and he comes to this province when he wants good material.

Well Worth Hearing.

A concert and illustrated lecture on "China," by the Rev. E. F. Lipscombe, will be given in aid of the St Barnabas Church Institute at the Odd Fellows' Hall, Fernwood Road, this evening, at 8 o'clock. The following ladies and gentlemen have promised to give their assistance: The Misses Nelson Legge, M. Furner, and M. Kessler; Messrs. Bale, W. Booth, Silk, Ferris, Clayards, Coles, Legge, etc.

They Leave To-night.

General regret will be felt in social circles in Victoria at the announcement that Hon. Hugh Nelson and Mrs. Nelson, who have so acceptably and so hospitably occupied Government House for the past four years, leave to-night for England. They go across the continent by easy stages and will probably remain over a few days at Winnipeg. Hon. Mr. Dewdney is expected to be here in about two weeks. When he arrives Mr. Herbert Staunton will go to Nanaimo.

Irishmen to Organize.

From the interest taken in the movement to establish an Irish society in the city, it is certain that the meeting for that purpose, to be held at the Pioneer Hall, Broad street, at eight o'clock this evening, will be largely attended, and that the object in view will be attained. The sons of the Emerald Isle in Victoria are a numerous body, and as the proposition is to open the doors to the direct descendants of Irishmen, it will give a large number an opportunity of joining.

In the Victoria West Hall.

The concert given in the Victoria West Hall, last evening, in aid of the St. Saviour's church organ fund, was well attended. The young people of the church had a suitable programme prepared for the occasion and the evening was made to pass most pleasantly. The following is a list of those who supplied the several items of the entertainment: Miss Martin, Mr. Sallaway, "C" Battery, Mr. Newling, Mr. White, Mrs. Janion, Mr. Kent, Mrs. Jay and Mrs. Smith, Miss E. Wilson, Miss M. Gaudin, Mr. Offerhaus, Mrs. Janion, Miss Martin and Miss ——, "C" Battery, Mr. Newling, and "C" Battery."

Honors to a Victoria Boy.

Mr. Ernest A. Powell, second son of Dr. Powell, who left last month for England, has been highly successful there in passing the first examination for the Arts degree, as well as the "additionals" required for the "Honors" course in law, at the University of Cambridge. Upon presenting the Governor-General's certificate, which Mr. Powell won at the High School in this city, he was excused the usual collegiate matriculation of Trinity Hall, where he is now studying the special law course, but, immediately, went up for the more important University examinations with the result above noted. During the last summer Mr. Powell was under the special instruction of Mr. L. H. Fullagar, B.A., Cantab.

St. Andrew's Bazaar.

Active preparations are being made to secure the success of the St. Andrew's, R. C., bazaar, which opens in the old procathedral to-day. From the endless variety of donations already sent in, and the enthusiasm of those who have the good work in hand, there can be little doubt that the affair will be a grand success. The ladies were busy yesterday clearing out the old building preparatory to the placing of the stalls and the unpacking of the goods which must tempt purchasers, if only for the real value offered. A novelty of the bazaar is an important vote which will be taken as to the popularity of the local press. The prize is a gold-headed cane, which will be handed over to the newspaper in whose favor the verdict is given.

A Quiet Meeting.

A very quiet and seemingly uninteresting meeting of the congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, was held last evening, the attendance being very much smaller than that of a week ago. The chair was occupied by Rev. P. McF. Macleod, Mr. John Boyd acting as secretary. After the financial statement had been read and adopted, the members of the board of managers tendered their resignations, which were accepted without question. The following gentlemen were elected to fill the vacancies, viz.: Messrs. J. H. Lawson, A. W. More, Jos. Hunter M.P.P., J. S. Yates, Thos. Roberts, Wm. Dunman, Jos. Anderson, F. W. Laing B.A., J. Riddell, Dr. Milne and R. H. Jamieson. The first-named five are to remain on the board for 14 months, the others for three months. The meeting adjourned shortly before 10 o'clock.

The Tenth Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Levy celebrated the tin anniversary of their wedding with a party at their home on Sunday evening. The presents of tin-ware were numerous and unique.

Did not Arrive.

Grand Secretary Edward Oliver, who intends to visit the local lodges of the Sons of St. George, was delayed, and the reception which was to have been tendered him last night has been postponed.

Service of Song.

In the Reformed Episcopal church on Sunday evening a large congregation listened to a service of sacred song, a repetition of which at an early date would give enjoyment to many lovers of good music.

McFee of Dublin.

All who love a hearty laugh will need no second invitation to see John T. Kelly and his funny company at the Victoria Theatre to-night and to-morrow evening. "McFee of Dublin" is one of those clean and wholesome comedies with a laugh in every line.

The Gedney Aground.

News was received from Nanaimo last night that the U. S. steamer Gedney is aground at Portier Pass. She went on at about 2 p.m. Sunday. The captain went over to Nanaimo, in the launch, for assistance. A tug has been telegraphed for to assist in getting the vessel afloat. The extent of the injury has not yet been learned.

Awaiting Confirmation.

Chuen Sun, the Mongolian who gave the local police so much trouble by falling into the hands of the highbinders a few nights ago, has turned up smiling. His little difficulty has been temporarily settled; the Chinese "Masons" have written to San Francisco for a confirmation of his claim to be "one of them." They say he is either very rusty on the pass words or a "fakir."

To Say Good-Bye.

Among the pleasant re-unions and parties, last night, there was none more enjoyable than that held at the residence of Mr. Papst, corner of Quadra and Fort streets. The gathering was for the purpose of giving the many friends of Miss M. Papst a chance to say good-bye before her departure for the Toronto Ladies' College, which will be in a few days. Those present spent a very delightful evening.

The Mock Parliament.

There was a lively session of the Victoria Mock Parliament last night, when the adjourned debate was continued, and with such vigor as to show that the "hon. gentlemen" mean to get down to work in earnest. Mr. Speaker was now and again put to his wits' end to restrain the ardor of the government as well as that of the opposition. Another lively time is expected at the next meeting of the house.

Spiritualism.

On Sunday evening a harvest festival, under the auspices of the Spiritualists, was given in Pioneer hall, which was crowded to its utmost capacity. Mr. O. C. Hastings presided. After singing and an invocation by Mrs. Mayo-Steares, the chairman read a brief paper on "The Origin of Religious Festivals." Mrs. Mayo-Steares then gave a pleasing address on "What Shall the Harvest Be?" A spiritualistic seance followed, which was manifestly productive of very great interest to all present.

Liable to Prosecution.

While sitting down at breakfast on Sunday morning, the family of Mr. R. J. Styles, of Craigflower road, were startled at breaking glass and falling plaster. The cause of the trouble was a bullet, evidently fired from a rifle from the Arm, where some parties were out in a rowboat. The bullet went through two one-inch boards and narrowly missed one of those around the table. Mr. Styles expresses great indignation that shooting within the city limits is not put a stop to.

THE DANUBE ARRIVES.

Her Passenger List and Salmon Cargo—Narrow Escape of a Scow.

The steamship Danube, Capt. Myers, arrived from the North, last evening, with a big freight and an unusually large number of passengers. Of the latter she brought the following: Mrs. Price, H. M. Price, W. S. McCrae, Capt. Bounser, Capt. Cunningham, C. Shepherd, Wm. Donaldson, Dan Morrison, Wm. Sparks, Wm. Leigh, J. Bowyer, S. Roach, A. E. Graham, D. W. Wright, T. T. Monteith, A. T. Cotton, E. B. Drummond, E. A. Greame, W. McInnes, James Hackwell, J. Grant, Frank Powell, James Miller, R. E. Palmer, C. F. Graff, George Black, J. P. Robinson, William Leigh, H. J. Kirkland, G. S. McTavish, J. Muir, A. Copeland, John Deer, W. Smith, Alex. McNeil, S. Grant, R. Williams, S. A. Spencer, A. E. McKay, J. Andrews, W. R. Cantley, W. Yule, F. Mawdsley, H. McDonald, J. Lundy, E. J. Hooper, P. Whalen, A. H. Hawkins, and W. McGarry.

The ship's cargo consisted of 18,746 cases of salmon, of which 3,412 are from Cunningham's; five from the Inverness; 60 from the Balmoral; 3,428 from the Windsor; 3,311 from the Lower Inlet; 3,534 from the Gardner's Inlet; 4,298 from the Rivers' Inlet, and 698 from Alert Bay.

The Danube had a very rough passage. While towing a scow loaded with provisions for Bishop's Cove from Price's cannery, five men narrowly escaped drowning. There was a very heavy sea rolling, and the scow began to fill. When a large wave swept over its deck it carried one of the men with it, the others being left clinging to the ropes attached to the vessel. Luckily, however, the man who was washed overboard could swim and kept afloat until a small boat's crew from the Danube rescued him. The scow was then taken ashore.

One of the passengers who came down on the steamer is the chief engineer of the steamer Caledonian, who had his knee injured and was obliged to come down to Victoria for medical assistance.

Owing to the stormy weather prevailing up North, the steamer Boscowitz was, at the time of the Danube's departure, wind bound in Queen Charlotte's Sound.

A. F. Cotton's Government survey party arrived down on the Danube and landed in Vancouver, as did also two other survey parties.

Financial Statements Presented—Complaints About the Meals—A Medal Dispute Arranged.

A special meeting of the members of the British Columbia Agricultural Association was held last evening, at the City Hall. There were present: The President, Mr. W. H. Ellis, in the chair, Messrs. N. The Secretary-Treasurer read the several financial statements. The financial results of the annual exhibition lately held, showed a deficit of $1,042 to add to the debt carried over from the previous year, making a total of about $2,200 on the wrong side.

Mr. Renouf, for the finance committee, made a lengthy explanation of the statements presented, details of each item being given. The gate receipts, he pointed out, were $1,500 less than those of last year, this being due partly to the unfavorable weather and partly to the interruption in the electric lighting one evening, when many hundreds of people were turned away. Had the gate receipts been up to those of last year, there would have been a surplus of $500 in place of the deficit shown. The exhibition had this year been more economically run than ever before.

Mr. Ker said the Association had the consolation that things looked decidedly better for next year. He had assurance, for instance, that there would be a more adequate street car service. The Exhibition would be held in August, and the committee would provide some attractions to draw the visitors.

Mr. Shakespeare called attention to the very unsatisfactory nature of the meals supplied, and advocated that the ladies be put in charge. Several others agreed with his complaint, and said it would be in the interests of the Association to make better provision.

The President said this meal difficulty was not peculiar to this year, as the same complaint had been heard last year, and before that. He agreed some other plan would have to be tried for next time.

Messrs. Renouf, Ker and Templeman were then appointed a committee to deal with the outstanding accounts.

A meeting of the directors for the year just ending was held immediately after the members' meeting.

The disputed award to be made to the exhibitors of lager beer was taken into consideration. It was pointed out that only one of the two firms exhibiting had made an entry for competition, and that the award of the judges was consequently made through misunderstanding. It was therefore resolved that the Phœnix Brewing Company be awarded a silver medal, they being the sole competitors. Further explanation showed that it was not intended to have had any competition in this class, but the entry had been received on account of a mistake in the preparation of the prize list. It was further resolved that the Victoria Brewing Company be awarded a silver medal for the excellence of their display.

AN UNTRUE STATEMENT.

The Illustrations of "Illustrated Victoria" Have Not Been Loaned.

The solicitor of a publication to be called, it is said, "Illustrated Victoria," has made the statement to several merchants when seeking patronage, that an arrangement had been made whereby the best of the illustrations of "Illustrated Victoria" published last year by the COLONIST, would appear in this new work. This is totally untrue. Not one cut has been arranged for; in fact, a proposition to pay for their loan was promptly declined. The name of "Illustrated Victoria" has been adopted, and the statement made that its excellent pictures had been secured, simply for the purpose of inducing merchants and manufacturers to advertise. The COLONIST has still several hundred copies of the work, Illustrated Victoria, on hand, and no better evidence of Victoria and its progress could be sent abroad. Copies ready for mailing may be purchased for $1 each.

The British Bark "Chili" in After a Pleasant Five Months Passage.

The "Zambesi's" Freight—Passengers From 'Frisco—Lumber Cargo for Delaware.

DEATH AT SEA.

The British bark Chili, 678 tons, Captain Donald McKenzie, reached Esquimalt harbor Sunday morning, being 155 days out from London, Eng. She brings a full cargo of 1,050 tons of miscellaneous freight, consigned to Turner, Beeton & Co. The trip from port to port was rather a pleasant one, save for some rough and stormy weather experienced around Cape Horn, which was sighted about August 4. When sailing to the westward of the Cape a large iceberg was sighted at a distance of about three miles. Luckily, however, the fog which prevailed at the time was not thick enough to retard the vessel's progress, and the massive piece of floating ice, which appeared to be about 200 feet high, was soon left behind. No accidents happened to the boat on the way around, and her remaining crew are all well and had nothing to regret on coming out except the loss of the cook, who died of pleurisy about one month after the vessel left England. His name was Alfred Morrell, who was at the time of his death about 50 years of age.

ARRIVAL OF THE ZAMBESI.

The steamship Zambesi, of the N. P. R. line, in command of Capt. Edwards, arrived from the Orient at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, having made the trip from Yokohama to Victoria in 15 days and 16 hours. She carries as passengers only four white people, three of whom are for Seattle, the other being for Tacoma. There were also 49 Chinese for this port, 38 for Tacoma and one for Chicago. The ship's cargo is divided as follows: 500 tons of general freight for Victoria, 100 tons for Seattle and 1,200 tons for Tacoma and overland points.

"She Has Made It a Family Friend."

IT IS WORTHY OF SUCH AN HONOR.

"We are never without your famous Harvard Bronchial Syrup in our house. Two years ago my wife had occasion to test its virtues in a case of sore throat, and found it so effective in removing the trouble that she has made it a family friend. We have advised scores of friends to use it for coughs and colds, and in every case it has given entire satisfaction."

The above extracts are taken from a Toronto gentleman's letter, and such testimony should prove interesting to all who are looking for an honest and reliable cough preparation.

Harvard Bronchial Syrup has no equal on this continent as a cure for irritation of the throat and bronchial tubes, hacking cough and enlargement of the tonsils. It does not require several bottles to bring relief. Very often one or two doses will give the desired results.

This magnificent remedy is now as popular in our Dominion as it is in the United States. It has never failed to cure the most obstinate colds, and has always triumphed where other cough mixtures have failed.

Try it, reader, if you wish to get rid of that troublesome and dangerous cold; it will do wonders for you.

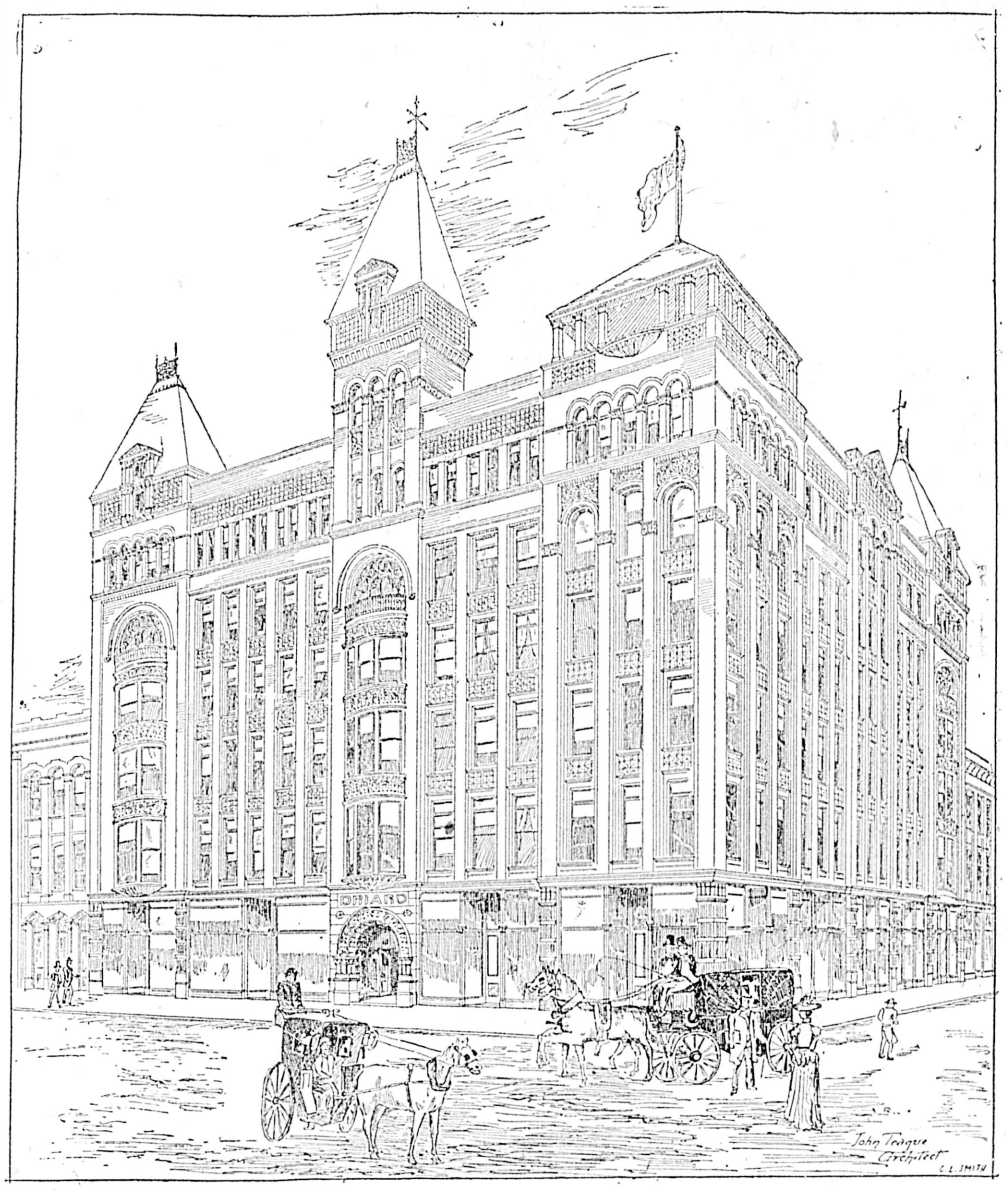
THE "DRIARD."

Opening of the Great Hotel—Its Furnishings, Fittings and Appointments.

A $275,000 Establishment Added to the Hostelries of Victoria—Commendable Enterprise.

Ample Accommodation Provided for Over Three Hundred Guests at a Time.

The new Driard Hotel will be opened today, for business. It has just received its final touches, and now stands without exception, the most comfortable, and one of the most commodious establishments of the kind in the country. The Driard has for many years past been closely associated with the history of Victoria. About 1858 the old hotel was opened, and since that date it has grown with the city's growth, and the excellence of its cuisine has earned for it a reputation far and wide.



THE DRIARD.

As Victoria grew apace it, of course, became a necessity that accommodation should be provided to meet her tourist and business trade, and hotel after hotel was run up, each succeeding one being an improvement on its predecessors. But still the "Driard" maintained its high place in public favor, and that name and British Columbia's "best hotel" became recognized as synonymos. The proud old building, however, had its limits, and in April of last year its enterprising proprietors, Messrs. Redon & Hartnagle, decided that they would no longer be in the awkward position of having to turn away old patrons or refuse to receive new guests. They therefore decided upon the erection of a new Driard—such a building as would maintain the credit of the old hostelry and be in the present and future what it had been in the past—one of the most favorite resorts in the Province and a thing of beauty in its capital. Competent architects were set to work, with carte blanche to go where they would and study the most improved hotel architecture and, if possible, approve on the models. Architect Teague succeeded admirably in the work set before him, and the result is an hotel as near perfection as it is possible to attain. The cost of the present grand structure, including furniture and furnishings, is in the neighborhood of $275,000, of which sum nearly $30,000 has been spent on that most important feature—plumbing.

The building is of brick, with stone foundations and dressings, and is replete with all modern improvements. It is, without doubt, the most prominent piece of architecture in the city. From any and from every point its massive upper stories and peaked towers are to be seen, and from its roof or upper balconies a panoramic view is obtained, which cannot be excelled for variety or beauty on this Coast.

The main entrance is spacious, and although of good height looks somewhat diminutive with its story after story of masonry towering above. The flooring is of tile, and to the left is the spacious office, some dozen feet from the main stairway, which is wide and imposing in its appearance. At the end of the hall is the elevator, which will take the guest or his luggage to any floor in the building, and, as one approaches its door, a charming spectacle is presented in the conservatory and reception room. A giant banana tree rears its huge leaves proudly over the topmost branches of the surrounding palms and gives them an air of insignificance which is not theirs, while the more modest but more lovely exotics bloom in all their beauty from the judicious locations accorded them by those who made the happy arrangement.

This conservatory is such a spot as one would like to linger in for hours. But, then, there is so much more to be seen in the Driard.

Wending his way up the spacious stairway, carpeted in rich velvet pile, the visitor is instinctively prompted to look over those bannisters of polished oak, and take in the view below. Then an upward glance is a matter of course. Through that symmetrically arranged space which leads to the topmost window of the dome—through those shining beauties from the wood-turner's lathe which serve almost as the tubes of a telescope—and a feeling of dizziness is the result. But that space and that dome are essential to the lighting and ventilation of the building.

On the first floor is the drawing-room, furnished in the best style, regardless of cost, that such an establishment as that of Messrs. Weiler Bros. is capable of. Everything is here arranged with exquisite taste, and experienced travellers who have seen this apartment are unanimous in the opinion that "there is nothing to touch it" in hoteldom outside of New York. The room is artistically frescoed, beautifully draped, and has a lightsome, airy appearance which lends an extra charm to the fine display of furniture, including a Steinway grand piano, which makes it what its proprietors aimed at—a model apartment. Adjoining the drawing-room is the ladies' writing room, which is quite in keeping with the general get-up of the house.

Along the spacious corridors branching off in all directions are rooms, single or en suite, fitted up to meet the varying wishes and tastes of patrons, and among which even the most fastidious cannot fail to meet exactly what suits them.

Another flight of stairs is ascended and another series of agreeable surprises is in store. Again a change in style is seen—but it is only in style the change is apparent, as the lay-out of the rooms is equally as happy as that of those below. Does the single guest require a bed-room sitting-room. Here it is for him? Is the companionship of a friend desired—one who wants a bedroom to himself and a sitting-room common to both? Here they are, just designed for such a pair. Does the family man seek a suite of rooms with every home comfort and complete privacy, even to a private dining-room? His wants also have been anticipated and provided for. In fact, there is no class of guest who cannot find all he desires in the matter of accommodation in the Driard.

Every bedroom in the house is provided with bath, hot and cold water, electric repeating bells, electric lights, and every other convenience. There are also rooms for the servants of guests, so situated that they are within easy call of the family to whom they are attached. A great convenience to the travelling public, especially commercial men, is a series of independent bath rooms got up for their especial benefit.

On every floor of the house is a fire alarm connecting directly with the office, and so arranged that the one alarm touched rings up all the others. There are also two sets of fire hose on each floor, but a fire in the Driard, should such unfortunately occur, cannot be attended with any loss of life, so numerous and perfect are the means of exit.

The halls and corridors are roomy and in addition to the main stairway, and the elevator, which can run at the rate of 400 feet per minute, there is also a winding staircase of iron latticework leading from the dining hall on the ground floor to the cupulos at the top of the building. Besides being a preventive of accident in case of fire, this spiral stairway is of great convenience in other respects and a decided ornament. Having a landing at each floor it enables guests to go direct from their rooms to the dining hall without being obliged to pass through the halls or down the main stairway or elevator. From the upper balconies on the roof of this splendid six-storey building a grand view is obtained. The roof is so designed as to serve as a fine promenade, and it is the intention of the proprietors that it shall be so used. Their idea is to have a band stand erected in this novel position, so that many a pleasant summer evening will be enjoyed there with music to add to the pleasures of the panorama.

The dining hall, as already explained, is on the ground floor, and is arranged to comfortably seat 300 persons, with ample room for attendants to pass around the different tables. As a general rule the tables are set for four, but they can be so arranged as to serve a party of any size. In addition there are a couple of side dining rooms designed for social gatherings or dinner parties. This department will be under the management of Mr. E. Escalet, who has long enjoyed the reputation of being one of the best caterers on the Pacific Coast.

The kitchen—that most important quarter of any institution in which the wants of the "inner man" are looked after—is got up as such an apartment ought to be. All its fittings are of the newest and best, and it will be presided over by artists who can cook.

In the store room are hidden away some $10,000 worth of plate, which will be put into service to-day, with all the necessary appointments.

The bar and billiard rooms are also on the ground floor, and will be in charge of Mr. Robert Campbell—an adept in his particular line of business. The wines, liquors and cigars which will be served over its richly carved mahogany will, it is needless to say, be of the best quality. The billiard tables are all new, and of the leading make.

Descending yet another flight of steps, one finds himself in the cellar, devoted to store and sample rooms, lavatory with automatic appliances, and the engine and electric plant rooms.

On the whole, the new Driard is a model building, and as it still continues under the management and proprietorship of Messrs. Redon and Hartnagle, those enterprising gentlemen will have improved facilities for adding to that reputation which they already enjoy. The hotel is one of which Victorians may well feel proud, and an institution which cannot fail to attract to the city hosts of visitors.

See Gilmore and McCandless' advertisement on the 5th page.

"Our townspeople who intend visiting the Tacoma Exposition are cordially invited by the Helvetia Milk Condensing Co. to make themselves perfectly at home, around their Exhibit, which will be very attractive this year. They will have a score of young ladies serving coffee, with the Highland Brand Evaporated Cream."
